++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Coastal gales and frequent showers. Winds easing overnight.

Today:
A very windy day with frequent showers, these heavy and mixed with hail, and wintry over higher ground. The showers will band together to give more prolonged downpours, especially during the afternoon. Gales continuing near west and southwestern coasts. Maximum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Tonight:
Strong winds and scattered showers at first. The winds will ease a little overnight and the showers become increasingly isolated, with some dry and clear spells in places by morning. Minimum temperature 2 deg C (36 deg F).

Thursday:
Bright spells and isolated showers Thursday morning, then dry for a time. However cloud and rain will reach Pembrokeshire by early afternoon, and will spread across mid Wales by evening. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Overnight rain clears to sunshine and showers Friday. Milder on Saturday, though largely cloudy with patchy rain. Cloudy, breezy and mild on Sunday with light rain at times.
